

For Overland Park Residents

WWW.OPKANSAS.ORG

Fall 2019

Just because it's on social media doesn't mean...

Nearly every hour of every day you see someone with their smartphone or mobile device scrolling through various social media sites for the latest information.

Maybe there's news about a family member or friend, an upcoming special event, the latest cooking tips, a funny video of a family pet or a post about possible unlawful activity.

Whether it's Nextdoor, Twitter, Facebook, Instagram or some other communications outlet, there's no guarantee Overland Park officials can see your posts. Visibility depends on the platform, geographic boundaries or homes associations, your own privacy settings, and other factors. If you see suspicious activity or want to report a problem in your neighborhood, simply sharing the issue on social media may not help police or city officials see the information.

City officials can read and respond to your post if it is posted on or sent directly to an official city account. Still, there are challenges to Overland Park officials seeing or monitoring private messages.

Before posting something about suspicious behavior on your social media account, call the Overland Park Police Department's non-emergency number, 913-895-6300. Always call 911 in an emergency. Social media should not be considered an alternative to 911 during an emergency.

To report a resident request, use the city's customer service system OPCares. Do not use OPCares for an emergency.

If you see a post about suspicious criminal activity, ask the original writer to contact the police with any relevant information.

U.S. 69 improvements remain top of mind for local, state officials

"It's the transportation spine of Overland Park and region," Mayor Carl Gerlach said in a letter to federal U.S. Department of Transportation officials.

Mayor Gerlach is asking for support of the "Better Utilizing Investments to Leverage Development (BUILD)" transportation discretionary grant application to fund continued planning. This planning would further prepare for the ultimate construction of improvements to U.S. 69 Highway south of 119th St. For years, Overland Park Governing Body members, business and community leaders, state officials and others have sought federal support to improve U.S. 69 from I-35 to 167th Street. " It is our number one transportation priority" said Tony Hofmann, director of Public Works.

This section of U.S. 69 is the busiest four-lane stretch of highway in Kansas.

"With your assistance, Overland Park will be able to improve safety, reduce congestion and improve travel time reliability along U.S. 69, a critically important regional commuter and freight corridor," Gerlach stated in his letter. "It (U.S. 69) serves more than 13 percent of the state's business community and 11 percent of the state's employment base, and it generates more than $1 billion in tax revenue for the State of Kansas."

2020 budget holds line on city property tax rate

Overland Park's proposed 2020 budget focuses on public safety and neighborhood stabilization operations, continues commitments to public infrastructure maintenance, maintains programs and services, and keeps a cautious eye toward the future.

"Overland Park's current stable financial position enables the city to meet demands, especially in the areas of public safety and neighborhood stabilization for the upcoming fiscal year," said Bill Ebel, City Manager. "There are significant public safety and infrastructure maintenance needs in the next two to five years," he further stated.

Ebel presented the budget, which proposes 17 new positions, including:

- Four new full-time police dispatchers and a dispatch supervisor.
- A full-time training officer and a full-time logistics officer in the fire department.
- Three new full-time information technology staff members, to support growing technology needs.
- Two new positions in the parks department, to allow additional focus on landscaping and parks maintenance.

Additional funding is also included for:

- School crossing guard services.
- ► A police SUV equipped to aid officers in community relations efforts and substance abuse prevention.

- ▶ The city's technology systems.
- Annual street maintenance.
- Traffic control system maintenance and more.

The proposed overall budget equals $304.7 million, an increase of 3.4 percent from 2019. The 2020 operating budget, which funds day-to-day operations of the city from the general fund, is $128.5 million.

The budget maintains Overland Park current mill levy, which at 13.566 is the lowest of any Johnson County city and first class city in Kansas. Your city mill rate accounts for about 12 percent of your total property taxes.

City leaders expect Overland Park will require additional public safety resources in the near future, and infrastructure maintenance will continue to be a priority as the city continues to age.

The U.S. Census Bureau is preparing for the 2020 Census, which is happening early next year. We want you to know why it matters.

There are many ways the 2020 Census may shape our community. Whether it's a new school to ease overcrowded classrooms or a new road to ease congested commutes, it's key to adequately supporting the population. The results, collected once a decade, help determine how billions of dollars in federal funding are distributed to states and communities every year.

The Census Bureau expects to announce a new population by the end of 2020. The census is required by the U.S. Constitution, and the once-in-a-decade count began in 1790. Results of the census are used for allocation of federal funds for schools, roads and other public services for local communities.

Johnson County government and other local municipalities, including Overland Park, launched the "Count Me In JoCo" website as part of a year-long awareness campaign to educate residents about the importance of being counted and how to be counted. To learn more about Johnson County's role in the census, visit www.countmeinjoco.org. For additional information about the census, visit www.census.gov.

Initial plans called for several phases to widen U.S. 69 from I-35 to 167th St. The first phase widened U.S. 69 from I-35 Highway to 103rd St.

Two other previously completed phases included the Antioch and I-435 interchange and ancillary lanes; and off and on ramps for College Boulevard and 119th St. in anticipation of widening U.S. 69 from 103rd to near 119th St., which is "shovel ready." However, this latest phase lacks federal and state transportation construction funds to proceed.

Over the past several months, local officials have conducted tours of U.S. 69 and met with federal lawmakers and national transportation officials to further explain the community's pressing need and further cooperation. That effort continues.

Bulky item pickup coming to half of city

If phone calls to city offices are any indication, the annual curbside bulky item pickup is popular and well received.

There is a lot of ground to cover, so four dates will serve four separate areas east of Antioch over a five-weekend period, allowing the contractor more time to collect items over a large Overland Park's bulky item pickup service is scheduled for four weekends beginning Sept. 14 through Oct. 12, with a one-weekend break.

This year's collections, which will haul away items such as furniture, appliances and mattresses from single through four-plex households with curbside trash service, will be for homes east of Antioch. Last year's program served residents west of Antioch as part of an annual program that alternates east and west of Antioch each year.

Use the online interactive map at www.opkansas.org/bulky to find out if you are in this year's scheduled areas and your weekend. If you are part of this year's service, you'll also get a flier and postcard in the mail with more information.

area of Overland Park.

Set out up to five bulky items, including appliances, rolled-up and secured rugs, grills without propane gas tanks, furniture, water heaters, refrigerators, and more at the curb for collection on your weekend.

Fencing, decking, lumber, and other construction materials, bagged or boxed items, yard waste, and hazardous waste will not be picked up and should not be left at the curb.

During your pick up weekend, you can drop off one pickup truck load of construction or demolition materials at the dropoff site. Johnson County accepts hazardous waste at dropoff sites. Visit jocogov.org/environment to schedule an appointment.

We can help you with flood insurance, information

The Federal Emergency Management Agency works with Overland Park to provide discounts on flood insurance premiums.

FEMA's National Flood Insurance Program continually faces paying flood loss claims while trying to retain affordable insurance costs. Nationally, the NFIP has paid nearly $50 billion in flood insurance claims since 1978. In Overland Park, nearly seven percent of the total land area is in a flood zone. While much

Overland Park participates in FEMA's Community Rating System, resulting in up to a 15 percent discount in flood insurance costs for Overland Park property owners. As part of this program, the city completes annual progress reports about mitigation efforts identified in a Repetitive Loss Area Analysis and the Regional Multi-Jurisdictional Hazard Mitigation Plan. Together these plans identify potential stormwater improvement projects and progress toward protecting properties from flood losses. All of these reports are available by contacting the Engineer of the Day at 913-895-6223 or eod@opkansas.org.

The city also maintains the following floodplain information for residents:

Whether property is in the floodplain.

Information about expected flood elevations, floodway limits, historical flood information, and steps property owners can take to protect themselves from future flooding if a property is determined to be in the floodplain.

Elevation certificates on existing buildings.

Localized drainage problem areas.

Areas known as designated stream corridors that provide natural floodplain functions.

OVERLAND PARK'S INTO ECOLOGY

Recycling Extravaganza: recycle, shred, donate and go

Do you have some items around your home that are taking up space, in the way or you're tired of cleaning around?

On Oct. 27, the Recycling Extravaganza returns and allows you to drop off and recycle many items not collected by routine curbside recycling, such as:

- Electronics computers, TVs, printers, stereos, cables, keyboards, etc. Most items no charge. However, CRT TVs and monitors, console, and projection TVs - $20-$50.
- Confidential documents onsite shredding to protect your identity. Donations accepted.
- Mattresses and box springs $10 per mattresses or box spring.
- Medications for proper disposal. Clean out the cabinet and make a new start.
- ▶ Bicycles working or not. Accessories accepted; no helmets.

Reusable items -

- Clothing recycle your old clothes.
- Building materials usable project leftovers or remodel removals.
- Toys let them bring smiles to another child.
- Furniture usable furnishings in good condition.
- Eyeglasses prescription, readers or sunglasses.
- Durable medical equipment used items can help others.

Pet supplies - make tails wag with leashes, food, blankets and more.

- Musical instruments new tunes (no pianos, organs or drums).
- Shoes let someone else walk a mile in your lightly used footwear.

This event is extremely popular. Get there early to avoid any traffic backup or delay. The event will be from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 27, on the campus of Black & Veatch headquarters, 11401 Lamar. No residency requirement. Visit the city website at www.opkansas.org for more information.

Recycling recap

At the Recycling Extravaganza held April 27 at Johnson County Community College, you saved mountains of stuff from heading to our local landfill, including:

- ▶ 72,400 pounds of paper
- ► 300 bicycles
- ▶ 134,245 pounds of electronics
- 121 mattresses
- 404 pounds of unwanted medication

Recycle right

A volunteer group donned hardhats, safety vests and heavy duty gloves to sort through a truckload of items put out for curbside recycling here in Overland Park. While the results weren't great, the solution, on an individual level, is pretty simple: Recycle the right stuff the right way.

What lessons did we learn while sorting materials? The following may be recycled through your curbside service:

Cans and cartons - Food and beverage containers.

Paper - Magazines, newspapers and office paper.

Cardboard and paperboard -Flattened and without any food or oil stains. This includes pizza boxes. Plastic bottles and containers -

Rinsed. No foam cups or containers.

The following cannot be recycled at curbside:

Plastic bags - There are a lot of spinning parts required to efficiently sort recyclables. Plastic bags wrap around everything, causing other recyclables to be discarded while increasing sorting facility downtime and costs. Recycle plastic bags properly at retail locations, such as your grocery store. Materials in plastic bags - Nearly 10 percent of all recyclables were wrapped inside plastic bags. Everything in a plastic bag ends up in the trash. Open top paper bags are OK but plastic bags are not.

Shredded paper or other tiny items - Shredded paper falls through the screening machinery and ends up in the trash. If you must shred at home discard it with your trash. The same can be said of loose bottle caps and other tiny items.

Glass - Glass collected at curbside frequently breaks and contaminates recyclable plastics and papers.

All glass containers and the materials it contaminates end up in the trash. Recycle glass at one of the many purple Ripple metal containers around town.

Non-recyclable plastics - Foam clamshells, Styrofoam, pipes, cutting boards, medication bottles, plastic sheet all end up in the trash. A symbol does not make it recyclable.

No scrap metal - The processing machinery is designed to recognize and sort cans. Scrap metal causes damage and ends up in the trash. Recycle scrap metals at the Overland Park drop off Recycling Center, 11921 Hardy, behind the fire station.

Be informed. Don't be a wishful recycler -Clothing, electronics, decorations and other items that you'd like to recycle and may be recyclable elsewhere all end up in the trash when collected with curbside recycling.

Tolerant plants, trees that enliven your landscape

IT'S SO EASY

With heat and less rainfall during the summer, many of us may lose perennials, shrubs and trees. Looking forward to 2020 here are few species of perennial plants and trees to consider that typically tolerate drier conditions.

Trees:

Hedge maple Lacebark elm or Frontier elm Thornless fruitless honeylocustBald cypress Sawtooth oak Kentucky coffee tree Bur oak Goldenrain tree

Perennial Plants:

Black-eyed Susan Indian blanket Yarrow Garden phlox Lambs ear Caryopteris Daylily Salvia

Although these plants can handle drier sites, it is important to provide supplemental water for at least the first few years of establishment.

EARTH NOTES

- An estimated 40 million tons of plastic waste is expected to be generated in this country in 2019. More than 83 percent of that total is expected to end up in a landfill.
- A hot water faucet dripping one drop per second wastes 165 gallons a month. That's more than one person typically uses in two weeks. Faucet leaks are an inexpensive and easy fix.
- Refill a bottle and save a lot. Commercially bottled water costs thousands of times more than tap water with no demonstrated benefits.
- Change your outside lights to LED bulbs. You may never change the bulb again and the savings can be significant.
